

The following assistant professor position (Tenure track -WI- Junior professor) is open at
ESCP Europe Business School Berlin,
starting September 2018
or January 2019:

Assistant Professor in Entrepreneurship (f/m)

The entrepreneurship department of ESCP Europe and the Jean-Baptiste Say Institute for Entrepreneurship are looking for a candidate with a genuine interest and track record in entrepreneurship. Your research wraps around entrepreneurial phenomena and theories (mindset, processes, pedagogy, etc.), may also involve entrepreneurial approaches to (digital) innovation, technology management and agile organizing, and has the potential to be published in international top-tier journals. You enjoy delivering quality teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels, and you wish to develop your executive education skills.

For further information feel free to contact:

Prof. Dr. René Mauer
Professor of Entrepreneurship and Innovation at ESCP Europe and Director of the Say Institute in Berlin
Tel. +49-30-32007-203, E-Mail: rmauer@escpeurope.eu

Team assistant: Barbara Lutz
Tel. +49-30-32007-210, E-Mail: blutz@escpeurope.eu

Requirements

Candidates are expected to publish in top-quality academic journals. Teaching will take place in undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate programmes, as well as in executive education. The teaching language will mostly be English. We are explicitly looking for candidates applying new teaching methods and formats.

A willingness to work with colleagues from our network of ESCP Europe campuses in London, Madrid, Paris, Torino, and Warsaw is appreciated. Furthermore, candidates should demonstrate skills in developing and expanding relationships with companies and professional organisations, and extend the reputation of ESCP Europe Business School Berlin and its programmes.

ESCP Europe Business School Berlin is a state-accredited, research-based business school (wissenschaftliche Hochschule). Therefore, § 102a BerIHG (Berliner Hochschulgesetz) applies in the case of assistant (junior) professors. Tenure can be offered for assistant professors after positive interim and final evaluations. Even if an outstanding doctoral dissertation is required for the application, we will also consider candidates who are in the final stage of their doctoral thesis.

Application should include: 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, including diplomas and transcripts of records (starting with A-levels), 3) a list of publications, 4) a statement of teaching and research interests and 5) teaching evaluations from the past two years (if applicable).

Please submit your application by April 30, 2018, in electronic form as one PDF file addressed to the mentioned contact person as well as to rektorat-berlin@escpeurope.eu. If you would like to send papers or any additional material in print, please note that documents cannot be returned. Job interviews and presentations are estimated to take place on May 29 and May 30, 2018 at the Berlin campus.

About the Jean-Baptiste Say Institute for Entrepreneurship

Launched in 2007 powered by EY and ESCP Europe Foundation, the Chair of Entrepreneurship has been educating and accompanying women and men who want to develop innovative projects in contexts of uncertainty and limited resources, whether they do so as entrepreneurs, intrapreneurs, students, executives, etc. Ten years later, in 2017, ESCP Europe elevated the Chair of Entrepreneurship to a department status and founded in addition the Jean-Baptiste Say Institute for Entrepreneurship.

As a team, we stress three areas of excellence:

- 1) Entrepreneurial mindset, methods and pedagogy,
- 2) Entrepreneurship as competence beyond start-ups and beyond business,
- 3) Entrepreneurial ecosystems and their interconnections.

The Say Institute is intensively engaged in research activity in all three areas and strives for further developing entrepreneurship as a field of research. In addition, the Say Institute develops an innovative and experiential pedagogy, offers unique incubation and acceleration (Blue Factory), as well as a strong connection with local ecotopes.

We run our own programmes, such as the Option E, U-School, or the Executive Master in Digital Innovation and Entrepreneurial Leadership, and we support new programmes like the Master of Entrepreneurship and Sustainable Innovation. Every year, we train over 1000 students and managers in entrepreneurship, we mentor around 250 projects, and we co-create a growing community of thousands across the globe through our newsletter (more than 22 000 subscribers) as well as multiple events (for instance "Made In ESCP Europe" and the "EntrepreneurSHIP Festival").

The Say Institute is a team of more than 40 dedicated people (researchers, teachers, programme and project managers) working and collaborating from the school's various campuses and combining rich and diverse expertise (corporate entrepreneurship, family business, entrepreneurial finance, social entrepreneurship, business modeling, digital innovation, sharing economy, design, art, and many more).

What we are looking for

- A Ph.D. (or equivalent) in entrepreneurship or in a related field, and preferably some post-doc experience
- Evidence of (or clear potential to achieve) excellence in research (such as publications in leading journals, and/or highly innovative research)
- A passion for entrepreneurs and a genuine interest in working with diverse stakeholders along the entrepreneurial value chain toward practical and theoretical value creation and thought leadership
- Experience and interest in teaching a diverse student population (e.g. bachelor, master, executives, small business entrepreneurs, family businesses, the general public)
- A passion for entrepreneurship-in-action, and experiential learning
- A curiosity for experimenting and working in open learning communities
- The ability to teach in English

The following profiles are of particular interest: people with an interest in the entrepreneurial mindset, methods and pedagogy, digital business and technologies, entrepreneurial innovation. The position reflects an appropriate balance between research, teaching, curriculum development, and community development, and it requires a passion for all of these elements and a capacity to interconnect them.

What you should be looking for

Our future colleague wants to represent the fields of entrepreneurship, intrapreneurship and innovation in teaching and research, thereby strengthening, co-creating and shaping the school's entrepreneurship and innovation profile. Furthermore, you are enthusiastic to join and work in our international faculty team: René Mauer (Berlin), Sylvain Bureau, Yi Jiang, Martin Kupp, Eric Pesnel, Noreen O'Shea, Caroline Verzat, Robert Sheldon (all based in Paris), Davide Sola (London), Lola Herrero (Madrid), together with dedicated intrapreneurs, doctoral students, and affiliated practitioners.
